

90th Anniversary Fellow of the School of Social Work

Keynote
Lecture

Prof. Stéphanie Wahab

Portland State University's School of Social Work

Teaching Social Justice in Dangerous Times: Practices of Hope

Date: March 9th, 2020 (Monday)

Time: 5:30 pm-7:30 pm

Location: The x<sup>w</sup>θəθiqətəm or Place of Many Trees, Liu Institute.

Register on School of Social Work website.

Stéphanie Wahab is a Professor at Portland State University's School of Social Work. She situates her work within critical and feminist studies of social inequality and teaches courses revolving around social justice, intimate partner violence, philosophies of science and qualitative inquiry. She's been actively engaged in the anti-violence and sex worker rights movements for over two decades. She is Editor in Chief for Affilia: Women and Social Work, and a co-editor of Feminisms in Social Work Research: Promise and possibilities for justice based knowledge. She has been a competitive swimmer since childhood, loves big bodies of water, and is afraid of sharks.